

Team Building Activity

Have team members pair up and interview each other like they are on a talk show. Each interview takes place in front of the rest of the group so everyone learns a little more about their teammates. After five questions, rotate.